Why You Need Us

For the last decade, U.S. science scores have lagged behind those of other major global economies such as Japan, Russia, and Hong Kong (China). That's pretty scary.

It's also pretty easy to understand. Many U.S. students still consider learning science an exercise in memorizing useless facts, and who wants to do that?

Prismatic Magic helps students discover how awesome science really is by using one of mankind's coolest inventions – the laser. We use lasers to draw larger than life animated pictures to capture the imagination of all. And it works. Last year, we visited a record half million students at 1,000 schools nationwide. When surveyed, nearly all expressed how they can't wait for another laser program.
